CHORUS

V[1]<sup>7</sup> I                          iii                          IV
The great stream of life 's flowing by with laugh and sigh,
V<sup>7</sup>
here a fall and there a rise,
I    iii
here we live and there we die, winter's gone soon comes july
IV    V<sup>7</sup>
in this marv'lous magic world of men!
I                          iii                          IV                          V<sup>7</sup>                          I
The great, the great, the great, the great stream of life!

VERSE 1

I[3] iii
Take your heart of grace and let ev'ry hour gently break
IV V<sup>7</sup>
into flower, into bloom. Winter and no sorrow have
I iii got no power blighting bloom. One day, just per chance and soon,
IV V<sup>7</sup>
sun will see felicity, all your felicitiy.

VERSE 2

I[3] iii
Dreams you often dream come true, our world would seem a new,
IV v<sup>7</sup>
always new to those who dream, well, your life's a pleasant thing,
I iii
where no bird forgets to sing, and no tree forgets to spring,
IV v<sup>7</sup>
so don't mind the stream flow by, flow, always flowing by!

OUTRO

v[1]<sup>7</sup> I iii IV v<sup>7</sup>
The great, the great, the great, the great stream of I
life!

The stream of life, the stream of life.
